Re: Approved Accommodation for Limited English Proficient Students on MCAS Tests

I am pleased to inform you that the Department of Education has approved a MCAS test accommodation for Limited English Proficient students. Beginning in spring 2001, any student who currently is or has been a LEP student can have access to an approved bilingual dictionary on MCAS tests. Bilingual dictionaries and electronic translators permitted for this purpose are limited to those that provide word-to-word translations (but not definitions).

Although students typically are classified as LEP for up to three years, the Department recognizes that some former LEP students continue to struggle with English vocabulary. Accordingly, the Department is permitting the use of dictionaries with word-to-word definitions for current and former LEP students in an attempt to more accurately assess the content knowledge of these students. Dictionaries with definitions are not permitted, only those with word-to-word translations.

Attached is a list of bilingual dictionaries that are approved for use on MCAS tests beginning in 2001. The list reflects the languages spoken in Massachusetts schools and is by no means exhaustive. The list identifies one or more dictionaries for the major language groups along with the purchase price(s). We would welcome your suggestions for additional entries that meet the above criteria. We are seeking comparable information for languages spoken by fewer than ten students statewide, and plan to have this additional information for schools in September.

Since LEP students will be allowed this accommodation on MCAS tests beginning in spring 2001, we are providing this information to assist you in planning your resource needs for next spring.

BILINGUAL DICTIONARIES APPROVED FOR USE BY STUDENTS WITH LIMITED ENGLISH PROFICIENCY ON MCAS TESTS BEGINNING IN SPRING 2001

The Department authorizes use of the following bilingual dictionaries. For information on obtaining these, and other bilingual dictionaries (word-to-word translations only) for language groups not listed, please contact the following publishing companies and distributors:
